After hours of pounding the concrete floor at last year's Outdoor Retailer trade show in Salt Lake City I needed reprieve. There it was-the Eagle Nest Outfitter Lounger-an oasis of Southern hospitality. "Take a load off, want a micro brew?" asked the Eagle Nest reps. That was an offer I couldn't refuse.

The Lounger is a super comfortable, collapsible, compact and easy-to-carry camp chair. If you have something to hang it from, you're good to go. Weighing in at 3 lbs. 6 oz., this isn't going on a multi-day point-to-point tour. But for a hut trip, spring overnight or car camping, it's well worth it. The comfort is beyond that of any bench or sleeping pad, and there is nothing worse than having nowhere to sit after a big day. Setup is quick and easy, and it's fully adjustable. It comes complete with a footrest, and the Rip Stop nylon construction ensures durability. The lounger forms to your back, and will help you recover from a long day of skiing. -Chuck Waskuch
