Jackson Hole, WY - Cloudveil, maker of inspired mountain apparel, is looking for a team of Inspired Mountain Ambassadors in addition to our current sponsored athlete team and has launched a search for 25 men and women who personify the inspired lifestyle upon which Cloudveil was built.

The application process is open to anyone: athletes, outdoor adventurers, musicians, artists, environmental advocates, the list goes on. The application can be found online at www.cloudveil.com/ambassadors and includes a 150-word description of why you should be a Cloudveil ambassador. Video submissions are also accepted, just upload your video to YouTube and send us the link.

The winners will receive Ambassador Purchase Discount pricing, which will be 45% below retail. Chosen ambassadors will also be a part of Cloudveil's online website, blog content and ongoing product feedback. The contest ends on December 31st, so send in applications soon!

"This program is a way for us to look beyond sponsored athletes and give other people who are getting after it in their own way a chance to be a part of our brand," Cloudveil Marketing Coordinator Nick Brosnan stated. "Cloudveil inspiration comes from the culture of small towns like Jackson and the creative people that make living here constantly dynamic and interesting, and there are thousands of towns like this. We look forward to finding an eclectic team of ambassadors for the winter season."

Founded in 1997, Cloudveil is credited with starting the modern day soft shell revolution. Cloudveil draws inspiration from its home base of Jackson, Wyoming with a focus on building innovative and functional apparel for the outdoor, snowsports, fly fishing and casual apparel markets.
